

FOCUS ON EDUCATION, DIVISION

With the National Science Foundation (NSF) and the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), the Division of Education and Cultural Affairs (ECA) is a major component of the Department of Education. ECA is responsible for the development and implementation of federal education policy and programs. ECA's programs are designed to support the development of a strong, equitable, and high-quality education system for all students. ECA's programs are designed to support the development of a strong, equitable, and high-quality education system for all students.

The ECA budget for fiscal year 2024 is $1.1 billion, which is a decrease of $115 million from the 2023 budget. The decrease is primarily due to the elimination of the ECA's role in the development and implementation of federal education policy and programs. The ECA's programs are designed to support the development of a strong, equitable, and high-quality education system for all students. The ECA's programs are designed to support the development of a strong, equitable, and high-quality education system for all students.
